PENTECOST SUNDAY

"The Spirit of the Lord has filled the whole world and that which contains all things understands what is said."
(Wisdom 1.7)

Weekly Biblical Reflection

"All of them were filled with the Holy Spirit..."

Pentecost reminds us that God often works most powerfully in moments of fear and uncertainty. The disciples gathered, or rather hid behind locked doors, after the Resurrection because they were not confident or prepared. Yet it was precisely there, in their anxiety and confusion, that Jesus came to them saying, "Peace be with you," and breathed the Holy Spirit upon them. This moment echoes when God breathed life into Adam. Jesus was not only comforting the disciples, but He was also transforming and preparing them for a mission.

The readings show two different experiences of the Holy Spirit. In the Gospel, the Spirit comes quietly through peace and reassurance. In Acts, the Spirit arrives dramatically with wind, fire, and bold proclamation. These differences show that the Holy Spirit meets people where they are and never leaves them unchanged. Sometimes we need peace in our struggles; other times we need courage to step outside our comfort zones and live our faith openly.

This message has not changed over the years. Like the disciples, we often live behind locked doors created by fear, routine, or distraction. Even though every baptized Christian has received the Holy Spirit, we can act as if these gifts remain unopened. The gifts of wisdom, fortitude, and counsel are practical help for everyday life, especially when we face difficult decisions, weakness, or uncertainty.

Pentecost also reminds us that evangelization is not about perfection. The miracle of Pentecost was not only that the disciples spoke, but that people could understand. The Holy Spirit works through ordinary words and simple acts of kindness, forgiveness, and generosity.

Ultimately, Pentecost assures us that we are never alone. The same Spirit that transformed the apostles and launched the Church is still alive and active today. All we are asked is to remain open to the Holy Spirit's presence and guidance. "Come, Holy Spirit."

God Bless, Deacon Kevin

Announcements
