SIXTEENTH SUNDAY IN ORDINARY TIME

"See, I have God for my help. The Lord sustains my soul. I will sacrifice to you with willing heart, and praise your name, O Lord, for it is good."

(Psalm 53.6, 8)

Weekly Biblical Reflection

Jesus proposed another parable to the crowds, saying:

"The kingdom of heaven may be likened to a man who sowed good seed in his field.

While everyone was asleep, his enemy came and sowed weeds all through the wheat, and then went off.

When the crop grew and bore fruit, the weeds appeared as well." (Mt 13:24-26)

Dear brothers and sisters in Christ:

On occasion, someone will either call the parish office or send an email, understandably disturbed by something a Catholic figure has said or done that contradicts the faith they claim to profess. Sadly, such instances cause confusion and anger for the faithful. With the rise of social media, these occurrences have become, regrettably, all too common.

As a Christian, how do we respond to scandal? St. Augustine, the great doctor of the Church, touches upon this important issue in his masterpiece, "City of God." His response is directly tied to today's Gospel reading. St. Augustine presents two contrasting cities: the city of man and the city of God. The former is bound by love of self; whereas the latter is bound by love of God. Each 'love' is competing against the other, both in society and within the heart of every baptized Christian. Both cities are intermingled in this life. On this side of Heaven, there is no clear boundary between the City of God and the city of man; they grow together like wheat and weeds. We can vacillate between the two depending on whether we are following Christ's will or our own.

We should not be naive. Only the Church Triumphant is perfect. We need to remember that we live in a valley of tears where temptation is always knocking at the door of our hearts. We need to repent daily and pray for the conversion of others too.

God bless, Fr. Peter
